Not many coaches get to 100 wins, let alone 200 wins. On August 20, Mariemont beat Ross 6-0, and Erik Vanags got his 200th as head coach of Mariemont boys soccer, the most in the program's history. Tom Crosby is at 215 in football and Steve Peterson is at 203 in lacrosse. I played for both of them, so the fact that Erik is in the same air is worthy of being written about. This fall is also his last on the sideline, and Jeff Hinebaugh's.

200 is an extremely hard number to get to as a head coach in boys high school soccer. The Ohio High School Athletic Association doesn't even track it. Its record book starts at 250 wins, and only 36 coaches in state history have made it. Vanags reached 209 with a win over CHCA. He has been head coach since 2011 and led the Warriors to an undefeated 23-0 Division III state championship in 2020. He was named Ohio's coach of the year in 2015 and 2020.

"Those two guys, they are freaking legends in the game," Erik said. "I don't look at us as in that pantheon or category." They didn't feel worthy of being in the same conversation of those legends, but it's just them being them. Erik is incredibly humble, it's always about the team. Win 200 nearly slipped by him. "I think Lisa knew. I didn't know," he said. "She made sure to get a picture of Jeff and I."

Erik believes him and Jeff are a package deal, a one-two punch. "Everybody always calls me the head coach," Erik said. "I'm like, Jeff's been a part of every decision." Jeff has coached with the program for 23 years without taking a salary, and Erik asked me not to call him a volunteer. "Volunteer, you think, oh, it's part time," he said. "The day we lose at the end of the season, that night we're together planning the next season."

Jeff is a selfless, happy go lucky guy. Always encouraging and never negative, very similar to Erik. In Erik's first preseason, the two each looked up the same opponent on an obscure soccer database. "We both were like, did we just become best friends?" Erik said. "One of the best parts is you get to work with your best friend." All of it has the same through line: they're on the same page as not only coaches, but people.

"We'd love to tell you it's winning," Erik said. "It's really not." I do believe him. What he cares about is developing young freshman boys into graduating senior men. Jeff said, "I have never heard him talk about any kid as a kid he doesn't like." Erik put it this way: "If you build the culture and you build the relationships, the success comes as a result of that."

Luke Brothers, who scored twice in the 2020 state final, still remembers what Erik told the team after it. "I always remember Erik, after the 2020 state win, saying, 'Don't let this be the defining point of your life,'" Brothers said. "I carry that with me for every new accomplishment or milestone." Erik's coaching is still playing out for his players six years later.

I'll never forget, on the first day of school, he talked in what seemed to be an Irish/Scottish accent. History class. I knew it was going to be very entertaining. He told me that every year he says he's not going to do it but ends up doing it. He really cared about you as a person, not just your test score.

Quinn Budig graduated in 2011 and was in my class. "Coach Vanags and Coach Hinebaugh have been pillars of the Mariemont soccer program and community for years," he said. "Their passion for the game and belief in every athlete have helped countless players succeed on the field, but their greatest impact has been in shaping them into men of character off it."

"I will stay involved with Mariemont soccer, just not as a coach," Jeff said. "I'm always going to be a fan, a supporter." Erik, who is retiring from teaching soon, said the program is in a great spot.

Mariemont is a special place with special people who not only live in Mariemont, but teach in Mariemont, and take the time to coach in Mariemont.

When I asked Erik what he would say to every player he has coached, he said, "I love ya, and I hope you're doing well."

Open before sending

- Erik: confirm the program record, the 2011 start, "his last on the sideline," "retiring from teaching soon" and "the program is in a great spot" (from your handwritten notes, not the recording). Don't use "goodbye for now."
- Erik's "freaking legends" quote: the transcript doesn't label the speaker; it's very likely Erik. Check the audio at part 1, 8:25.
- Tom Nerl: email sent Oct 30, asking for the program record, previous record holder, first season and a quote.
- Jeff's tenure: 23 years (Erik at the interview) vs. since 2005 (his Dinsmore bio).
- Luke Brothers: "scored twice in the 2020 state final" comes from earlier research; confirm.
- Photos: 06, 21 and 09 from Lisa (`photos/lisa-vanags.md`).
